DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-6, 9-14, and 18, drawn to a system, classified in class 606, subclass 61.
- II. Claims 7, 8, and 15, drawn to a method, classified in class 606, subclass 61.
- III. Claim 16, drawn to a subcombination of rod, classified in class 606, subclass 61.
- IV. Claim 17, drawn to a Subcombination of sleeve, classified in class 606, subclass 61.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I, III, and IV in relation to II are related as product and process of use.

The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case the method can be used with a spinal rod without sleeves or cores and the products as claimed can be used in methods other than for scoliosis or in any situation where rods are desired to slide, such as telescoping supports.

Inventions I in relation to III and IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because both subcombinations contain additional structural limitations not found in the combination. The subcombination of rod has separate utility such as being utilized for the same task without the outer sleeve and the subcombination of sleeve has separate utility for protecting cylinders from abrasion during handling.

Inventions III and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. As described in the previous paragraph, both subcombinations have separate utility and are clearly not obvious variants. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

A telephone call was made to Max Oppenheimer on March 8th, 2006 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Conclusion
